

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Job seekers gain significant edge from new Certified Resume

Newly launched ResumeFit creates certified resumes giving employers critical data to identify candidate personality traits and work place behaviors.

Charlotte, NC (MarketWire) March 12, 2009 – The job market is a very crowded place these days. With employers receiving hundreds or even thousands of resumes for every position open, it's tough for job seekers to differentiate themselves and get seen. Even with technology screening solutions like applicant tracking systems (ATS) in place, recruiters are simply overwhelmed by the volume of submissions. Enter ResumeFit, in time to address this problem with an innovative, powerful, and cost effective solution.

“ResumeFit’s new Certified Resume empowers job seekers with a way to stand out at a time when the job market is highly competitive”, explained Scott Runkle, Managing Partner. “For employers, it takes the guesswork out of the hiring equation. They can now better understand a person’s work style and potential job fit based on information embedded in the resume. And for recent college grads, our assessment provides information about potential when work history and experience may be limited.”

The resume certification process is simple. Candidates complete a brief online assessment, select the job role they are applying for and then upload their resume. Within minutes they receive their assessment results automatically inserted directly in their resume, and the resume is certified with a digital signature so the data cannot be changed. The entire process takes less than 30 minutes – but for the first time offers candidates a truly unique way to proactively market themselves to potential employers.

"In today's market job seekers need to stand out. Conventional resumes are no longer enough. The assessment and certification provided by ResumeFit gives candidates the edge they need at a price any job seeker can afford", said David Mezzapelle, Founder GoliathJobs & JobsOver50.com. "We are very excited to be offering ResumeFit Certified Resumes to our consumers."

ResumeFit is currently signing additional partnership agreements with corporate and college job boards and career transition companies to give job seekers more opportunity for their Certified Resumes to be seen. ResumeFit is now available on a new major partner site - JobIrn.com.

A free tour of the process and view of sample certified resumes are available on the website. Job seekers can securely create an account and set up as many tailored certified resumes as desired for one price that covers a 12-month subscription agreement. Go to: <http://www.resumefit.com>

About ResumeFit

ResumeFit, LLC provides a comprehensive resume system that improves job seeker representation and gives employers the ability to make better-informed selection decisions. ResumeFit’s system is revolutionizing the way candidates and employers think about the role of the resume, the information submitted by the candidate, and the science utilized to identify good job fit.

##

Media Contact:

Donna Lehman

MarketUP, LLC

770-565-7275

dlehman@market-up.com